

If you are considering having your home treated to protect your family from Mosquitos this Summer, GPCA strongly encourages you to check the license of your Pest Management Company prior to the treatment, you may do so by calling their home office. It has come to our attention that homes are being treated by companies who are not specifically certified in Category 41, Mosquito Control. If you discover the company you are using does not have Category 41 certification they are considered an illegal operator and we ask you to please refuse the service and call The Department of Agriculture (404)-656-3600.
